CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK A NATIONAL SUCCESS

Do you remember, you grown people, when you first began to learn the joy there is in books, how barren was the field? You read some book that stimulated your mind and your emotions and you longed for more just like it. But libraries provided little in the way of specialized suggestion. If you knew what you wanted and they had it, you got it, and that was all. Children's books in the book shops were too often what even the children themselves called "easy" and maybe you didn't have grown folks around you to select for you those standard things that are universal in their message.

In consequence, you read a great deal, maybe, that was harmful, or at least more than negative in value, since the same amount of time might have been put on something that would have meant present joys and building for the future.

All this is suggested in the fact that children's book week is at hand. The dates are November 12-18.

Club women know that this observance is fostered by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in cooperation with the children's book week committee of New York, the American Library Association, the publishers of books, many of the schools of the country, and, as a foremost state medium, the library commission in every state where such commissions are operating.

While away club, Mrs. J. G. Moore was hostess to the White-Away club Friday afternoon at her home on South Main street. Symbols of Armistice Day were used in the rooms where the guests were entertained. Eight books of progressive work were played.

Octagon Club. Mrs. Paul Franklin delightfully entertained the Octagon club at her lovely home on Savannah avenue on Wednesday afternoon. Two tables were arranged for bridge.

The guests were Mesdames J. G. Moore, F. I. Williams, Grady Smith, Don Brannen, A. F. Mikel, Sidney Smith, H. D. Anderson, and Chas. Pigue.

Ninth Birthday. Saturday afternoon little Miss Jean Pigue was hostess at a lovely party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pigue, on Savannah avenue, the occasion being her ninth birthday. The lawn was transformed into a playland where the merry little guests enjoyed the various games.

Later in the afternoon delightful refreshments were served.

Miss Elma Waters and Miss Lucy Mae Brannen assisted in entertaining the guests. Quaint novelties were given each guest as favors. Seventy-five were present.

Stockholders of Fair. A formal call has been issued for a meeting of the stockholders of the Bulloch County Fair Association to be held in the court house Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The report for the past year will be submitted and officers will be elected for the coming year. The business of the association will be reported in excellent shape, which is in contrast with the two preceding years, which have shown a deficit. Credit is due to Secretary Olliff and the other officials of the association for having made a success of the fair the present fall.

Home-Coming Sunday. A most delightful occasion was the home-coming service at the Primitive Baptist church in Statesboro Sunday, to which were invited all the members and former members of the congregation.

Dinner was served at the church to the hundreds who were present, and the day's program was most delightful and instructive.

In connection with the church's affairs, it is stated that the call extended to Elder Crouse to serve the church for another year, has been accepted, and he will make Statesboro his home in future. A home has been purchased by the church for the use of the pastor, who is a measure of the esteem in which he is held by his parishioners.

MRS. WATSON ASKS FOR CHANGE IN WILL

SAYS SENATOR'S ESTATE NOT ABLE TO PAY MRS. LYTLE $30 PER WEEK FOR LIFE.

Thomson, Ga., Nov. 14.—The probating of the will of the late Senator Watson will be heard Tuesday, at the instance of Messrs. John T. West & Sons, representing Mrs. Watson, who hope to effect an adjustment with Mrs. Julia Clatt, Mr. Watson's sister, and Mrs. Alice Louise Lytle, one of the beneficiaries, on the ground that the estate is not able to pay their bequests.

It is contended that the estate is not able to comply with the terms of the will which bequeathed to the two women $30 each for life.

Mrs. Clatt and Mrs. Lytle have, so it is understood, agreed to this adjustment, which will set the will aside so far as they are concerned and prevent any contest when it is offered for probate.

Judge J. B. Burnside, represents Mrs. Clatt and Judge P. B. Johnson, Mrs. Lytle, while Colonel B. J. Stevens, one of the executors, represents the executors of the estate. It was learned today that the latter will oppose the proposed adjustment.

BALE OF COTTON SELLS AT RECORD HIGH PRICE

$3.44 PER POUND IS PAID AT PUBLIC SALE IN ATLANTA'S OPEN MARKET.

Atlanta, Nov. 20.—Cotton has reached the new high mark of $3.44 a pound in Atlanta.

One bale, weighing 500 pounds, brought $1,700. It was Georgia grown cotton, sold at public outcry, and Forrest Adair, nationally known Atlanta business man, was the auctioneer. The proceeds went to the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children.

The scene was on the main floor of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange. One bale of cotton, the first raised in Georgia in 1922, grown in Tift county near Moultrie, Ga., was shipped to Atlanta by express to the Atlanta Commercial Exchange by the Georgia Cotton company for the grower. It was received at the exchange on July 18. On July 19 it was sold at auction for 60 cents a pound, being bought by J. J. Williamson, of the well known cotton firm of Williamson-Inman-Strubling Company. The proceeds went to the grower; the bale was given to the hospital for the crippled children's hospital.

Now another auction has just taken place. Half a dozen times it was purchased, at prices ranging from 50 cents to 25 cents a pound. In each instance it was returned to the children's hospital, only to be re-auctioned by Mr. Adair.

John A. Mather, Atlanta cotton man, is the present owner of the much-exploited bale, and announced that he was as yet undecided as to what he would do with it.

The Scottish Rite Home for Crippled Children, started through the efforts of Dr. Michael Hoke, Forrest Adair, Sr., and other leading citizens, some years ago, is now recognized as one of the largest and best equipped institutions of its kind in the United States. It was the pattern for a number of similar hospitals which have been established in various parts of the country by national primers; in fact, the idea of establishing these hospitals was obtained from the Atlanta hospital and action for a nationwide movement was decided upon at a meeting by a national board, of which Forrest Adair was elected chairman.

According to treasury department figures over 60,000,000 people invested in the five bond issues to the amount of $21,432,924.00. Of this total about 11,000,000 people invested around four and a half billion dollars in the Victory notes, the majority of which will have been or will be redeemed or exchanged within the next few months. Of the remainder, as nearly as can be estimated, because of sales on the open market, there are in the neighborhood of 30,000,000 holders of Liberty bonds of the first issues, valued at over fifteen billion dollars.

The tax exemption privilege came through the decision of the supreme court denying the contention of the People's National Bank, of Kingfisher, Okla., that Liberty bonds, in which the bank's capital was invested, were not liable to taxation by the state. The Oklahoma supreme court decided against the bank and appeal was brought to the highest tribunal.

If one has never seen a really big dairy and poultry farm, the Hillhouse plantation is going miles to see. More than a hundred Jerseys and Holsteins are kept there, with seventy-five in milk at the present time. Mr. Hillhouse owns a sawmill at Augusta to which he ships the products from the dairy. His poultry farm comprises 1,600 white leghorn hens. It was laying time with the hens, and an exhibition of how it is done proved exceedingly interesting. There is no haphazard about the business. Every hen in the barn is numbered with a band around her foot, and her record is kept as minutely as a banker would keep his books. Every nest is set with a trap bottom. When the hen goes on to lay, the trap is sprung, and she can't get off the nest till a caretaker releases her. When she turns her out, he makes a record of her conduct for the day. There is no "monkey business" about it. If the hen doesn't intend to lay, she had better stay off the nest, lest she be kept there till something happens. Mr. Hillhouse explained that his records disclose that one hen in his barn has laid 176 eggs since March—almost an average of one egg per day for six months. At the present time he is getting about 100 dozen eggs per day, which he finds market for at 35 cents per dozen. Count it up: 100 dozen eggs per day, at 35 cents per dozen, that's $3.50 per day for eggs. Now it is not all profit; the hens eat two tons of feed per day. Mr. Hillhouse has contracted to have electric lights installed throughout his henhouse to increase the egg production. He is not trying to fool the hens; he's just going to give them a longer day to work in, and experience has taught that hens lay more eggs when the days are long than when the nights are long. He said he hadn't thought much about installing photographs to provide music for their quick-step, but he might do it for his dairy cows, because he was sure there was some virtue in the music theory.

HARDWICK AND THE KU KLUX

Governor Hardwick has again declared his intention to wage a battle to the death warfare upon the Ku Klux Klan.

While our individual sympathies have been with the governor in the fight so far, it must be admitted that the banner of victory still floats with the Klan in his and their combat. This is taking it for granted that they were even remotely responsible in any way in the claims they were, for his two recent defeats at the polls in Georgia.

As to the Ku Klux Klan as an organization, we are inclined to suspect that many of the privates in the ranks and some few outsiders are taking it altogether too seriously. It will be recalled that some two years ago the Klan was under some sort of investigation before a committee of the United States senators. Prior to that time the grand wizards, gobs, kleges, and what-you-call-ums, professed to have a national membership of a million. When put to the proof, they "fell a square" to ninety thousand. This was a drop of more than ninety per cent. Ninety thousand men scattered throughout the United States are a mere handful, and capable of exerting very small influence on affairs generally. The claim now is made that their membership stands at half a million. Supposing these figures are correct, and which, probably are no more nearly so than the original claim of a million, even that number is not sufficient to startle the governors of great states or to be taken seriously by the members of the Klan.

A membership of half a million is only one half of one per cent of the population of the United States. The other ninety-nine and one-half million people certainly ought not to be having agues over the situation. As the governor has said, there is no room anywhere in this country for insensible governments, and there are going to be none. The men who think they are a part of it, are simply mistaken. The higher-ups in the Klan do not regard themselves half so seriously. They are not organizing the people into great phalanxes to march to war, or to secretly control governments. As far as they are interested in getting them is to the point of separation with the $10 membership fee. All the rest is incidental. We wouldn't assert on our own responsibility that they are not all impelled by motives of patriotism, but if we are to give heed to the charges and counter-charges of it is a high up in the organization made almost continuously against each other, we are led to wonder how any men of even ordinary judgment can be inclined to follow after their dead-weight on a cash price and pay that price out of their own pockets.

We believe Governor Hardwick's mistake in their estimate of the Ku Klux Klan. It is not half the menace at the present time they seem to suspect. Even if its tenets were all bad, and they may be all good, the numerical strength of the Klan does not entitle it to be considered so seriously as they seem to consider it.

WHIPPING THE BOLL WEEVIL.
When the boll weevil first began his intrusion upon this section, and our people were warned of the great havoc which he would bring to us, some of the skeptics belittled the danger that threatened and charged that those who warned against him were unduly frightened. About the same time he was moving into our borders, and before he had been brought face to face with the majority of our farmers, our business men were engaged in the establishing of a meat packing plant which it was hoped would stimulate the hog industry to such an extent that we might not be fatally crippled by the partial loss of our cotton crop. It was common to hear the skeptic declare that the danger of the weevil was magnified for the purpose of frightening our people into taking stock in the packing plant.

Whatever may have been the outcome of the packing plant, the weevil was a reality. Within the past four years every farmer in Bulloch county has become personally acquainted with him from direct contact. They have come to realize that the worst reports of his depredations were not magnified. Yet, the fact remains that he has not conquered the cotton industry in Bulloch county nor in

NEIGHBOR'S WERE ASTONISHED AT CHANGE IN HER

"I had lost nearly all faith in medicines, but I am thankful a thousand times over that I ever believed in Tanlac strong enough to try it," recently said Mrs. Martha Baker, 508 East 8th St., Gastonia, N. C. "My daughter thinks I might not be here now if I had not used Tanlac, and no doubt she is right, for I was falling pretty fast. The lightest kind of food hurt me and many times I could not retain anything I would eat. I was also fearfully nervous, couldn't sleep, and got up mornings completely worn out."

"After I got Tanlac I improved so rapidly that my neighbors were astonished and wanted to know what I was doing for myself. I am just like a new person now and I know at least a dozen people who have taken Tanlac and not well on account of what it did for me."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

GENERAL ELECTION RETURNS COMPLETE

PEACH COUNTY DEFEATED—DEMOCRATS WIN ALL STATE AND COUNTY RACES.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 20.—Returns from Montgomery county in the recent general election were received Tuesday at the office of Secretary of State S. G. McLeoden, completing the returns for all the 160 counties of the state, the Montgomery county figures heretofore being missing.

According to the complete returns, the amendment creating the new county of Peach was defeated by a vote of 36,546 to 29,848. The amendment creating a new state senatorial district of Brantley, Berrien and Cook counties was defeated by a vote of 27,680 to 24,964. The only amendment which was ratified in the election was that increasing the salary of the judge of the superior court of the Augusta circuit, this winning by a vote of 28,737 to 23,928.

With the receipt of the complete returns, Governor Hardwick Tuesday issued a proclamation declaring all the nominees for state offices running on the democratic ticket as elected. The returns in the governor's race and the race for United States senators in the general election are held until the legislature meets when they are officially canvassed by that body. Congressmen elected in the twelve Georgia districts are the following: First district, R. Lee Moore; second district, Frank Park; third district, Charles E. Crisp; fourth district, W. C. Wright; fifth district, W. D. Upshaw; sixth district, J. Walter Wine; seventh district, Gordon Lee; eighth district, Charles H. Brand; ninth district, Thomas M. Bell; tenth district, Carl Vinson; eleventh district, W. C. Lanford; twelfth district, W. W. Larsen.

TWO MEMBERS OF FAMILY.
Friends of W. C. Akins sympathize with him in the loss of two members of his family within a few days of each other. The wife and mother died on November 11th after a long illness and was followed on the 20th by a son aged 20 years, who had been an invalid from birth.

SATISFIED
Returning home from a scientific meeting one night, a college professor, who was noted for his concentration of thought, was still pondering deeply on the subject that had been under discussion. Upon entering his room he heard a noise that appeared to come from under the bed.
"Is there any one there?" he asked, absently.

"No, professor," answered the intruder, knowing his peculiarities.
"That's strange," murmured the professor. "I was almost sure I heard some one under the bed."

Death Anniversary of Henry A. Anderson.
How long the time does seem since my dear husband and I lived together. Four long years have passed since I saw the face that brought sunshine and happiness to my life. November 22, 1918 I was made so happy, when I knew he was my own dear companion, for that day we were married and started then the happiest days of my life. But there was a great dark day that came over me so early in my life. Just two years from the day we were married God called him home, November 22, 1918, to show his cheerful smile on the happy shores of eternal life. I pray God to bless my little Henry and I to live such lives as to be "Dear Daddy and Husband" in the world of happiness and bliss. It would be long before baby and I both will go down in death as our loved one has, but it is so hard to live here without Daddy and Ethel and Henry.

VITAL STATISTICS.
I have been appointed registrar of vital statistics for the 120th district outside of the city of Statesboro and for the 48th, 157th and 157th districts. The law requires that a report shall be made to me of all births and deaths in the territory mentioned. Physicians or others having charge of any such cases are required to make report of same according to law.

SEN. HARRIS MAKES INTERESTING COMMENT

DECLARES PROPOSED SHIP SUBSIDY IS SCHEME TO TAX MILLIONS FROM THE PEOPLE

Washington, Nov. 27.—Discussing the legislation which congress should consider and denouncing the position of the republican administration on several important measures, Senator Wm. J. Harris today made his first comment upon returning from Georgia for the extra session of congress. He announced opposition to the ship subsidy bill; advocated the repeal of the tariff law and amendment of the revenue laws; urged legislation to help in the marketing of agricultural products, establishing a system of rural credits, and further stimulating the farm loan basis, and favorable action at once on the Henry Ford bill for Muscle Shoals.

Senator Harris said in a statement today: "The ship subsidy bill, as recommended by President Harding, is a plan of taxing the people to the extent of 30 or 40 million dollars for the shipping trust, in my opinion, and I am opposed to the legislation. The farmers have suffered more financially than any other class and they are entitled to first consideration on the government in consideration of legislation. When the farmers and livestock raisers prosper, all other industries are benefited, but when they cannot sell their products at a profit, every industry suffers."

"Why does not President Harding recommend to this 'do nothing and discredited' Congress some measures that will help the people of the agricultural south and west? When sections prosper, every section of our country enjoys prosperity."

"The election of November 7th was a protest of the people against the revenue bill passed by the Republican Congress placing the burden of taxation on those least able to pay and exempting those most able. This law should be amended."

"The tariff law recently passed should be repealed. It has increased the cost of living for every person in the United States in order to help the Republican manufacturer who, in exempting those most able to pay, has contributed to the campaign. It is vicious to tax all of the people to assist in paying campaign contributions."

"The objectionable provisions of the Esch-Cummins railroad law also should be repealed and a reduction in freight rates and passenger fares should be made so that the manufacturer and farmer can make a living profit. Reduction will bring more business to the railroads, in my judgment."

"Congress should pass legislation that will help the farmer in marketing his crop at low expense and prevent the middleman from getting all the profit the farmer earns. Several measures that would help the agricultural situation, in my opinion, were introduced by me and passed by the Senate at the last session. The farmers' associations all over the country have recommended these bills but the Republican congress will not let them be voted upon. Why not pass these bills, and others, and give the farmers assistance in marketing their crops through financial and warehouse facilities?"

"The Democrats were working on a system of rural credit to give the farmer cheaper interest rates on money. Why do the Republicans delay this measure? The Democrats are all urging it now."

"The southern cotton producer and the western wheat farmers can not receive full prices for their products as long as Europe is flourishing. The middleman is to our interest for Europe to get on a sound basis financially and commercially. It will help our farmers, laborers and manufacturers."

"Because Henry Ford contended the New York election is one of the reasons I Republicans have refused to let Ford have Muscle Shoals. I would be a great help. The Republican voters have repudiated Newberyism. Why not let Ford have Muscle Shoals? He made the best bid and offered millions for a plant which the Republicans said should be junked. Why not pass this legislation now? The country will force Congress to help Muscle Shoals two years from now, in my opinion."

"The Republican party should not

SEABOARD AIR LINE A DS COTTON FARMERS

PAMPHLET GIVES FULL INFORMATION ON NEW METHOD OF BOLLWEED CONTROL

On account of the great importance of the recently discovered "improved method" for controlling the cotton boll weevil, made by the State Plant Board of Florida, the Seaboard Air Line, through its development department, feels that it would be doing a great injustice if full information was withheld from all those farmers growing cotton along this tributary territory in the states of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

The fact that it has been found practical to bring cotton back into Florida is very important to the other states named, because in Florida the milder winters do not kill as many boll weevils, and the heavy rainfall during the longer summer greatly favors the pest.

This method of control shows conclusively that any farmer, while practical to bring cotton back into Florida is very important to the other states named, because in Florida the milder winters do not kill as many boll weevils, and the heavy rainfall during the longer summer greatly favors the pest.

This "improved method" is a radical departure from these control methods that have been advocated for the past twenty years. The ordinary calcium arsenate method of treating boll weevil has proven successful to some extent in the area served by the Seaboard Air Line. However, it has not been found adaptable except on land that will produce at least a half bale of cotton per acre. Therefore, the development department of the Seaboard Air Line feels that it should present to the farmers a better method for controlling the boll weevil that has yet been discovered, that these farmers may be better able to support prosperous homes.

While this method of control has not been worked out, as tried in any other states than Florida, there at present appears no theoretical reason why it should not be applicable to the other states. In the light of the information which is at present available, the "improved method" adopted by the Seaboard Air Line, through its development department, feels that it would be doing a great injustice if full information was withheld from all those farmers growing cotton along this tributary territory in the states of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

Representatives of the Seaboard's development department have carefully followed and studied this method in the fields as it was being tested out, and have personally talked with the farm owners and tenants, white and black, who have made three or four times more cotton in these fields where they used this "improved method" over where they did not follow it. In some fields there was only a small number of weevils, but in other fields there were as many as 1,500 per acre. This "improved method" proved equally effective under both conditions.

The development department of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, at Norfolk, Va., is publishing a circular entitled, "An Improved Method of Controlling Boll Weevil," giving full details regarding this "improved method" and the results obtained. A copy of this circular will be gladly sent to any one requesting it.
